

McCrea has pioneered Rhône varietal grapes in Washington State for nearly two decades. The first Washington winery to produce Rhone Varietals commercially reflects upon their vision and foresight. Their partnerships with several dedicated growers of the Yakima Valley and Red Mountain began with a vision, believing that these magnificent grapes would thrive in a then unproven region. The wines from these vineyards have developed exceptional qualities, beautifully reflecting the distinctive flavors of their Rhône Valley heritage. McCrea's story is not about a winery alone, but about relationships with inspired and highly talented Washington growers who believed in their passion and were willing to take a risk, and reach for the extraordinary.
