2004 Winner's Tank Shiraz
Wine Advocate #167 (Oct 2006)

One of the top values in my Australian tastings, this 2004 Shiraz is a new venture between Kaesler Vineyard's winemaker, Reid Bosward, and the owners of Winner's Tank, David and Kathy Knight. Given minimal aging in French oak, it offers an opaque purple color as well as exuberant, concentrated blackberry and cassis aromas revealing a touch of acacia flowers. Full-bodied, opulently-textured, and loaded, I served this cuvee blind to guests who were convinced it was a $50 bottle of wine. Drink this big, black, Shiraz baby over the next 2-3 years to take advantage of its exuberant fruit.
